Rennell Hall Residents Protest

by Renee Felicia Brissette

After a UB student was recently kidnapped from her dorm, Rennell Hall, UB's Administration was once again challenged by the student body.

On Tuesday, September 27th, a first year student from India was mentally tortured, forced to withdraw her savings from a local bank, and stripped of her jewelry. After this two hour ordeal, her assailants dropped her in an unfamiliar area of the city.

This incident, only one of the many that have recently occurred this school year, enraged students. On Thursday, September 29th, a great number of students rallied in front of President Greenwood's office carrying protest signs and blocking traffic. They demanded straight answers concerning the issue of campus safety. They wanted immediate action to be taken by administration in order to prevent such incidents from recurring.

The rally was a protest against the University's obvious lack of security, and what students believe to be the Administration's inefficiency in dealing with the situation.

Administrative officials did make an appearance, but President Greenwood remained in her office despite student's pleas for her to come out.

The crowd was addressed by Kenneth Best, who was fulfilling his last day with UB as director of Public Affairs. Best reiterated to the crowd those security measures under way, and new recommendations intended to become effective in the near future. Enraged, unsatisfied students were unreceptive to best, wanting to speak only to President Greenwood.

The two hour protest ended when Greenwood allowed 12 students into her office accompanied by the Administration to discuss the matter at hand and express their concerns. No new resolutions were agreed upon through the course of the meeting.

Big Brother, Big Sister

by Paula Knuckles

This year at the 1988 Democratic National Convention, the eloquent Jesse Jackson filled the veins of so many people with renewed hope. His solution for the evils of society is a message of consolation. He has identified a "common ground" for us to work together. He strives toward solidarity, to improve economic political and social position of minorities through the formation of his Rainbow Coalition.

Although the appeal of Jesse Jackson reaches across the nation, his accomplishments and impact are felt especially here on campus.

The Black Student Alliance (BSA) takes the challenge that Jesse Jackson has presented to us all. The BSA proudly sponsors the "Big Brother, Big Sister" program which, like Jesse Jackson, proposes to enhance the awareness and conditions of minorities.

The "Big Brother, Big Sister" organization plans to catapult an attack to reach many who are in need of help in a wide variety of areas ranging from academics to personal counseling. The members work to understand and encourage high scholastic and ethical standards.

However, the objective of the organization will not be met unless there is a meeting of the minds to plan an approach to reach out to those in need. The organization invites and urges students to reach out in fellowship and share concerns they may have.

It is essential that we work together as a family. We must reach out and take each others' hands. Please look out for information on meetings for the "Big Brother, Big Sister" organization. Let's take advantage of our resources. After all, what good is a resource if it is never used? Everyone welcome! Come to the next BSA meeting. We meet every Sunday at seven o'clock, Student Center, rooms 207-209. Join Us!

OPINION

Tell It Like It Is . . .

Dear Editor,

After reading the front page of the Sept. 29 issue of the Scribe I was immediately inspired to write to you.

An article by Colleen Wilcox was printed stating that "Within three days UB and the Administration was hit with three serious blows concerning security." She states the three serious security blows as being:

1. The "Incident involved the attack and mugging of Rhonda Baxter, student council president and Colleen Wilcox," 2.
- "A second incident occurred on Sept. 16th in Schine Hall in which two young men from New York were asked to leave the building. The two men failed to comply to the request of leaving and as a result a scuffle broke out. "The New York man was seriously injured." 3. "A third incident, also occurring on Sept. 16, took place off campus at a ZBT party on Atlantic Street in which a UB Freshman student was physically assaulted and hospitalized by another UB student."

To begin with I would like to make it clear that only one of these incidents was a "blow concerning security." The incident at Schine is one of the times security worked. The two young men from New York did not get into Schine. When they failed to show proper ID they were asked to leave. They were reluctant to go but they did. The system worked. The "scuffle that broke out" did not happen in Schine, it happened outside of Schine. I think it is important to remember that these two men were very, very drunk. They were not armed gunmen. They did not have knives and chains, they were just very drunk. As for the young man being seriously injured, yes he was.

As for the third incident, let's make it clear that ZBT did not have a party that night. A formal apology should be sent to the brothers of ZBT. Yes, a young man was beaten and "hospitalized" by another UB student. However, it was off campus, not on UB property. In my opinion that makes it a problem for the Bridgeport police not UB. We must also remember that these young men were also drinking. Had the incident not occurred two days after the shooting, it would not have been such a big deal. I cannot tell you how many times in the past two years that I have been here, a fight with a bunch of drunken men occurs on the weekend. That's College.

I am not saying that we have perfect security here at UB. We are far from it. But don't make mountains out of molehills. Yes, this happens on other campuses and if you "UB students" don't think so, then take off your rose colored glasses and look around.

I know it may seem as if I am saying two things, but I am not. I want security beefed up, I want Public Safety to have billy clubs, hand cuffs, and mace. What good are they without them? They would be just men and women with arms and legs. I want better lighting on the streets, and paid security officers in the lobby of all the dormitories. Most importantly I don't want the Guardian Angels on my campus, they'll just make it worse.

I am a Junior now and I have had my differences with administration, but never before have I ever taken their stride on any issue.

Now here I am almost defending them. I hope to G-D I never have to do it again. It's time we all stop screaming bloody murder, and sit down and talk rationally.

Sincerely,

Rachel N. Levy
Senator, College of Arts & Humanities

Retraction:

In the September 29th issue of The Scribe, the third paragraph of Colleen Wilcox's front page story stated "A third incident, also occurring on September 16th, took place off campus at a ZBT party on Atlantic Street in which a UB freshman student was physically assaulted and hospitalized by another UB student." The incident referred to did not occur at a ZBT party, and members of the fraternity were not involved. The fight did however involve a UB freshman, but he was assaulted by a former student visiting the campus.

Unjustly Accused . . .

Dear Editor,

I am writing this letter in response not to an article, but to a statement made in "How Safe is U.B.?" (Sept. 29). The article was well written and attacks the most important issue in our lives on campus today. I must, however, strongly object to Ms. Wilcox's statement that the party on Sept. 16 at Atlantic street was a ZBT function.

The party was held by one of the two houses at the address and had no fraternal affiliation what so ever. Since the 16th, I have heard the party referred to as "a TKE" party, and even "co-sponsored by TKE/ZBT." Please be advised this is not so.

It seems of late, the administration has been harping on bad incidents concerning us (which contrary to their belief's have other sides) and ignoring the positive things we have accomplished. We have only just begun to get our fraternity off the ground and already we have conducted two successful fund raisers. Last year, with Andy Perone in charge, we collected some 60 large bags of clothing for the Red Cross. We worked with Barri York in a balloon fund raiser for the "Save the Children Foundation." Our President, J. Joel, and Vice President A. Monfried, are both enthusiastically involved with the new Security Committee. Besides these examples, we have a hand in most every public scholastic activity on campus. We are, at this very moment, organizing a major fund raiser for the American Heart Association. Dan Materese is heading up our committee that should raise several thousand dollars.

In conclusion, I wish to reiterate the point that the party on Sept. 16 at Atlantic Street was in no way a ZBT affair. I don't know where Ms. Wilcox got her information from, but I suggest that in the future she gets her information from someone else. It would be nice if the administration would acknowledge the fact that we are quite new at this and are making an effort to better the life here at UB, and help the community if we can in its process.

Meal Cards Return To Student Center

by Michelle Lepesqueur

As of Monday, October 3, meal tickets returned to the John J. Cox Student Center, to the apparent satisfaction of numerous UB students. Says Phil Rodano, a sophomore, "The Student Center is the most ideal place for students on the meal-plan to get a quick bite in between classes."

The return was due, in part, to Sandy Shulman, the Food Community Student Representative. Realizing that not every student can make the Maria Dining Hall hours, Shulman went to Vice President Donatelli to see what could be done. She found Donatelli to be quite cooperative, telling her all would be straightened out in two weeks. Donatelli proved true to his word as Shulman points out: pizza, yogurt, and other snack delicacies will be provided with just a wave of those little meal I.D.s.

There was some uncertainty on whether or not the meal tickets would be used in the Student Center, under the new management of Marriott, but Shulman quickly dismisses the former doubts. She explains, "Marriott has been great. They're so enthusiastic. Anytime a student wants anything granola, it's out there. Cottage cheese, it's out there. Anything the students want, it's out there. The only reason the meal tickets weren't there (in the Student Center) is Marriott didn't know...they were doing so many other things, buying new tables, new silverware, new salad bars, microwaves...they're willing to listen. You just have to ask."

Shulman is also looking to put meal tickets in the Faculty Dining Room in the Student Center, expecting results within the next two weeks. The Food Community Student Representative comments, "It'll just be like dinner back home." If successful, the Faculty Dining Room will be open to students with meal cards 4:30 to 7:00 p.m. In addition, Marina will continue its hours, 7:00-9:00 a.m. breakfast, 11:30-1:30 lunch, and 4:30-6:30 dinner, with the Student Center filling in 9:00-11:00 breakfast, 1:30-4:00 lunch, and 6:30-8:00 dinner.

Shulman also advises looking for "Thanksgiving on the Mayflower," one of the many surprises Marriott has in store. Food Committee meetings are held every Thursday at 3:00 p.m. in Marina Dining Hall.

Musical Madness Comes to the Bernhard Center

Rollicking satire and hilarious cacaphony come to the Bernhard Center Oct. 6 at 8 p.m. when the ingenious Peter Schickele returns with his zany look at the "last but not least" of Johann Sebastian Bach's many sons, P.D.Q. Bach.

The show will be presented in the Mertens Theater of the Bernhard Center. Ticket price for students is $7.50.

Two years ago, Schickele packed the house. This year is expected to see the same as towering musical classes are turned into side-splitting comedy. P.D.Q. Bach, actually a figment of Schickele's wild imagination, is a comic invention that the New York Times has called "truly delightful... and a super-syllogistical semimezzo-flügelhorn virtuoso." Another writer for the New York Times adds that the audience during the P.D.Q. Bach show is truly what makes it a success; "Schickele is a talented musician in his own right who breathes life into his craft with histrionic abandon."

Don't miss it! For more information and to reserve your ticket, call the Bernhard Center Box office today, 576-4399, 1 to 6 p.m., weekdays.

Incentive Thinking for the Bridgeport Community

by Fernando Prud-Homme

Many say that the South End community of Bridgeport is a bad and depressed area. Although this may probably be true, there are many fears and misconceptions that U.B. students have about the community. Many students feel that off campus townies and drug dealers prowled the campus and cause lots of trouble to many U.B. students.

Attempts have been made by the University to establish programs and community services that directly deals with linking the community with the University. Such workshops like the mini-high school which prepare high school students to strive higher and think for themselves is one example.

Still many students (through a recent survey) demonstrate that not enough is being done. There are many gaps and lack of communication between the two societies which cannot (or will not) connect the bridges which will cause greater and mutual understandings.

But on September twentieth two weeks from last Tuesday, however, a meeting was organized by Christine Cap-pusio to discuss just that, understanding and initiative actions towards reaching a better communication relationship between the South End community of Bridgeport and the University. The way this will be achieved is through a program called Home Base. Home Base (which means Bridges Across the South End) is a newly formed organization whose main goal is to reach out into Bridgeport's South End youth groups. Kids ranging from ages eleven to fourteen, six through eight grades. The program is geared on bringing kids from this age group into a university environment which can offer or serve as an incentive for future higher educational goals. The kids will be provided with tutoring services, rap sessions, workshops which will include arts and craft, music, dancing and humanities of that nature. Ms. Cappusio feels that this will bring kids off the streets and can serve as future role models for younger and even older kids. Also, she feels that bringing the children into a university environment will plant a seed of desire in pursuing an education in U.B. by the far future; this will ensure a closer bond of support and sensitivity with the community.

Dr. Janet Greenwood, our university President, has also been informed by Ms. Cappusio about the project and she discloses that the President's attitudes for the overall program are positive. Jaqueline Bennamati, and other administration officials have also been notified and their attitudes, according to Ms. Cappusio, prove to be positive as well.

The department of Arts and Humanities, and other faculty members have been supportive of the program as well and (sources say) show readily attitudes, all which are good ones.

In closing the interview we discussed one last point of the program, which was the object of the program. Ms. Cappusio was asked how serious she is about this program and how willing she is in investing hard work and energies to make this project work. She replied by stating with confidence that Home Base is a program that will work; with the right people giving few hours of their time, and the love of wanting to do this, Home Base is a project that will be off the ground quickly and professionally.

Carlson Festivals Biennial To Showcase Renowned Singer At Symphonys Gala Opening

The Carlson Festivals Biennial, noted for bringing artists of international fame to Fairfield County, will present world-renowned opera star, Frederica Von Stade, at the Gala Opening concert of the Greater Bridgeport Symphony's 43rd season.

Under the baton of Gustav Meier, who begins his seventeenth year as GBS Music Director, the performance on Saturday, October 22, at the Klein Memorial Auditorium, 910 Fairfield Avenue, in Bridgeport, will be a special tribute to the Founder and Director of the Carlson Festivals, Ruth Carlson Horn, now celebrating her jubilee 75th birthday year.

Since 1956, under Mrs. Horn's direction, the Carlson Programs have brought to the Greater Bridgeport Area a distinguished roster of renowned artists in the various fields of the fine and performing arts. Previous Carlson Programs, held at Fairfield University, Sacred Heart University, the University of Bridgeport and Bridgeport's Jewish Community Center, have featured such outstanding artists as opera star Beverly Sills, harpsichordist Igor Kipnis, composers Gian Carlo Menotti and Aaron Copland, flutists Carol Wincenz and Eugenia Zukerman, The Guarneri String Quartet, P.D.Q. Bach, The Lincoln Center Chamber Orchestra of New York, and the New York Harp Ensemble.

Considered one of the world's sovereign mezzo sopranos, Ms. Von Stade will perform Ravel's Sheherazade and Alborada del Gracioso and arias from Mozart's La Clemenza di Tito and Rossini's Othello and Barber of Seville. The orchestra will also perform overtures from Berlioz' Benvenuto Cellini and Mozart's La Clemenza di Tito.

Today Miss Von Stade stands at the pinnacle of a singing career, which began almost by accident. After working part-time jobs for Tiffany's and Stratford's Shakespeare Festival Theater, and a brief acting stint in summer stock at New Haven's Long Wharf Theater, she enrolled at the Mannes College of Music. During her second year, her voice teacher Sebastian Engelberg encouraged her to enter the 1969 Metropolitan Opera Auditions. At age 24, she won the competition and a prized contract to perform at the Met.

In 1975, Miss Von Stade took a leave of absence from the Met and moved to Europe, where she soon established herself as an international star, performing at La Scala, the Paris Opera and Covent Garden. A decade later, she was the only American singer to perform with both La Scala and the Paris Opera when these companies visited the United States as part of the Bicentennial Celebrations.

Known as "Flicka" to friends, the gracious, unpretentious diva—"the sweetheart of American Opera" (Newsweek) is often seen on Public Television's "Live from Lincoln Center" series. A recipient of four Grammy nominations, two Grand Prix du Disc, and "Best of the Year" citations by Stereo Review, Opera News and Ovation, Miss Von Stade holds honorary doctorates from Yale University, Boston University, the Georgetown University Medical School and the Mannes College of Music. In the spring of 1983, she was honored with an award given at the White House by President Reagan, recognizing her contributions to the arts.

The appearance of Frederica Von Stade as a guest artist with the Greater Bridgeport Symphony has been made possible by the William & Philip Carlson Fund of the Bridgeport Area Foundation.

Daughter of pianist Frances Faust Carlson and the late philanthropist William Carlson, who served for many years as a GBS Board member and Treasurer, Mrs. Horn is a founding member, Honorary Trustee, and former Vice President of the Symphony. Her grandson, Bruce Elstein, a Bridgeport attorney, who was recently appointed Assistant Director of the Carlson Programs, represents the fourth generation of the Carlson family to be a member of the Symphony's Board of Trustees.

Other programs relating to the Symphony which Mrs. Horn designed and established include the Ruth Carlson Horn/William & Frances Carlson Competition for Young Instrumentalists, now entering its thirteenth year, and the former radio program, "The Connecticut Symphony Supper Hour."

For her outstanding service to the arts, Mrs. Horn has received numerous civic and artistic awards, which include an Honorary Doctorate from Sacred Heart University, citations from Fairfield University, the University of Bridgeport, the State of Connecticut, Bridgeport's Jewish Community Center, the YWCA, and the Connecticut Chapter United Nations Committee.

The October 22 concert will be preceded by an informal talk with GBS Music Director Gustav Meier at 7:30 p.m., free to all ticketholders.

Ticket costs are $25, $22, $12, and $8; full-time students and children will be admitted at half-price. For reservations, call the GBS Office at 576-0263 (Visa/Mastercard accepted). The Klein Box Office will be open daily on the day of the concert, starting at noon.

King's X Scores, M.O.D. Bores

by Gabriele Sasso

Listening to King X's debut album Out Of The Silent Planet for the first time, chills ran down by spine; I was reminded of the first time I heard Squeeze or Metallica. All three are very different bands, but all possessing that special quality which makes the listener take notice. When you first hear Out Of The Silent Planet it is very difficult to categorize. The music is aggressive, the guitar is particularly intense. But then comes the hook: the vocals. Doug Pinnick sings and he does just that, sing! No blood curdling screams, grunts or guttural utterings here. Not that there is anything wrong with that mind you, it's just refreshing to hear something different for a change.

Ty Tabor, Jerry Gaskill and Doug Pinnick have created an album which is accessible enough to get into right away, yet interesting enough to make you come back again and again. It is extremely original and the best debut album to surface in a long time.

Each band member shines on this album and displays his ability. Drummer Jerry Gaskill does a solid and impressive job, guitarist Ty Tabor plays with an invigorating fervor and passion that shows he truly enjoys his work, Doug Pinnick plays bass and sings lead; his bass is distinct and paramount in holding the rhythm section together. His voice shows signs of many influences: rhythm and blues, rock, and psychedelic overtones. It is these influences combined which help provide one off the best voices to emerge in the last several years.

The ten songs on the album all fall into a general theme: that theme could best be described as a musical search for life's answers. Although all ten tracks are linked in theme, musically they are cut from different cloths.

On the second track, "Goldilox," Pinnick's voice penetrates through your body and you cannot help but feel the words. "Power of Love" has a very catchy beat and is presented in such a way that it can't be ignored. The song "King" is a perfect expression of a love betrayed, with a heavy backbeat and Pinnick's melodic yet intense singing. During "Far, Far Away" Gaskill displays his best drumming on the album, with a crisp and attention grabbing opening and some very interesting effects throughout the piece. The ninth song "Shot Of Love" is by far the most lyrically upbeat on the album, while the final cut "Visions" is the most upbeat musically.

All in all, this album is technically flawless and creatively innovative. I would not be surprised if it is remembered as one of the best debut albums of the decade. On a scale of one to five I have to give this album a five; it is that good. I suggest everyone give this album a try. If you listen once believe me you'll listen again!

That brings me to M.O.D. (Method of Destruction). This album could be categorized as hardcore with a slight thrash metal influence. Musically it is not impressive and lyrically it is senseless. The cover of the Beach Boys "Surfin' U.S.A." makes even the Beach Boys look good. The entire project has no direction except to be loud, and there is nothing wrong with being loud as long as there is some merit to the music. There are plenty of hardcore and thrash metal bands worth listening to that there is no reason to spend time on M.O.D. One example is Anthrax, which will be reviewed in the upcoming weeks. The only positive aspect of this record is the humorous cover. Billy Milano's voice is grating and annoying to listen to and the rest of the band could probably do some good for a high school band in Iowa somewhere. Avoid this album at all costs. The vinyl it was pressed on would have been better applied to a car seat. M.O.D. is the only band on the Megaforce label that isn't exciting and innovative.

Knights Overcome Rival Sacred Heart Remain Undefeated

by Joe Braen

The UB men's soccer team continued its undefeated season by shutting out their rivals from Sacred Heart University last Wednesday. The shutout was UB's sixth of the year and the fifth in their last six games, boosting the Knights' record to 7-0-1.

Donal Hetherington scored the only goal of the first half for the Knights on an indirect kick, following a tripping penalty by Sacred Heart. Early in the second half Sheldon Neal received a pass from Nasir Al-Riyami and put it into the upper right corner of the net, making the score 2-0 in favor of the Knights. Then late in the second half Juma Al Sutaifi sent a pass to Nasir Al-Riyami who put it past the Sacred Heart goalie from about 20 yards out making the score 2-0 UB.

Goalie Peter Quinn (5-0-1) got the win and the shutout, (the 23rd of his career), breaking the record set by Joe Sander of most career shutouts in UB. This year Quinn has a 0.38 goals against average and has 3 shutouts. The UB goalies as a whole have been spectacular, allowing only two goals in eight games, while the offense has scored 15 goals in those eight games. Nasir Al-Riyami, currently ranked 4th nationally among the leading goal scorers, had a goal and an assist in the game against Sacred Heart.

The UB Knights remained 5th in the national ranking for the second straight week. However, in next Saturday's matchup against number 1 ranked New Hampshire College, the Knights will be looking to increase their place in the rankings.

Men's Basketball Outlook

It's nearly impossible to replace a basketball talent like Norman Taylor, but head coach Bruce Webster is optimistic this season and will approach the upcoming campaign as a rebuilding one.

The Purple Knight game plan will have to change with Taylor no longer owning the five square-foot area around the basket. "People will see a new brand of basketball during the upcoming season," said Webster.

Bridgeport returns only two of its starters of a year ago to this year's roster. Heading the list of returnees is point guard Steve Ray. Last year, the 5-11 speedster averaged 10 assists a game with a new school record 280 handoffs.

"Steve will be one of the best point guards in New England and maybe the nation this year," said Webster.

Ray may not have Taylor to hook up with this year but the return of Ed DeChent and sophomore Joel Teague will supply plenty of inside scoring for the Purple Knights. Two years ago, DeChent (a red shirt due to a knee injury in 1987-88) averaged 14.4 points and nearly six rebounds for UB. In his initial campaign, Teague poured in an average of 8.2 points while grabbing 5.6 rebounds a game.

Joining the list of top returnees from last year's 19-9 squad are sharp shooter Greg Murphy (6.5 ppg), David Silverberg (4.6 ppg, 2.6 rpg), and a beefed up Tokunbo Oke (4.3 ppg, 3.5 rpg).

UB welcomes a fine group of incoming freshmen this fall.

"This could be one of our better recruiting years," explained Webster. "We got a lot of quality people on paper, now they have to prove themselves on the hardwood."

If anyone is going to take Taylor's place it will be freshman Lambert Shell. Shell averaged over 19 points and 14 rebounds at August Martin High School in New York as a senior. The Purple Knights acquired transfer David Gavin who averaged 21 points and 14 rebounds a game at Boston College High School. Gavin comes to UB via LaSalle College in Philadelphia.

Webster, who had to replace three starters (Deng Nhial, a forward, John Mullin, a sooting guard and Taylor a power forward) due to graduation will look to fill the voids. Newcomers, Shell, Gavin, Pat Morris and Steve Wills are prime candidates for the starting positions.

Bridgeport will play a 27-game schedule with key matchups with New England Collegiate Conference opponents, Sacred Heart, Lowell, and New Hampshire College. UB will host the annual Bankers' Classic in early December with Queens College, Mansfield University and Adelphi University.

The Purple Knights will vie for the NECC Championship and an automatic berth to the NCAA Tournament in late February and early March. Last year, UB finished at 6-6 in the league but were unable to compete in post season play.

Head Coach: BRUCE WEBSTER

Entering his 24th year as head coach of the University of Bridgeport men's basketball team, Bruce Webster is regarded as one of the most successful Division II coaches in New England. With an overall 376-254 won-loss record, Webster has directed the Purple Knights to 16 winning seasons, including 20 or more wins five times.

The veteran mentor has guided the UB basketball program to eight NCAA appearances and a pair of New England Regional championships in 1976 and 79. The 1978-79 club also earned a trip to the Division II Final Four in Missouri where the Knights finished fourth in the country.

In the 1984-85 season, one which welcomed the arrival and graced at the departure of 76" Manute Bol, Webster and UB basketball program attracted national attention. The Purple Knights responded by winning a school-record 26 games (26-6) and the first-ever New England Collegiate Conference championship. That year, he was honored as NECC's Coach of the Year and, for the second time in his career, New England's Division II Coach of the Year.

In his first 23 seasons, Webster's team has won an average of 16 games per season and has a winning percentage of .597, among the best in the nation in Division II.

Webster is a former football and basketball standout at Rutgers University where he earned his bachelor and master degrees in physical education. In 1958, he won the Hill Memorial Award as the basketball team's most outstanding player. He later served as an assistant coach for his alma mater's football and basketball teams. He later assisted in the athletic program at West Point before coming to Bridgeport in 1965.
